

CONTEMPLATION OF NATURE: A RETREAT FOR FACILITATORS

Explore the experience of God in nature and learn how to assist others in doing so at the “Contemplation of Nature: A Retreat for Facilitators,” Sept. 15–17, 2017, in Sewanee, Tennessee, hosted by the Center for Religion and Environment (CRE).

The retreat is for those who are interested in fostering spiritual growth in their community or church as well as for environmental activists. While the retreat is offered within a Christian context, people of all faiths are invited to participate.

Participants will learn how to facilitate CRE’s introductory program to the contemplation of nature, “Opening the Book of Nature,” as well as “Living in an Icon, Alive in the World,” CRE’s year-long program in spiritual growth.

For more detailed information about the retreat please visit www.sewanee.edu/resources/cre/what-we-do/contemplation-of-nature-retreat-for-facilitators/ or call at 931.598.1243.

Cost: $365

Student/Seminarian Cost: $185

Center for Religion and Environment

